One of the advantages of boarding your pet with us is that veterinary attention is readily available if the need arises. Your pet's well-being is our utmost concern. Should your pet become ill while boarding, your pet will be given treatment as determined by the faculty clinicians at the pet owner's expense. We will attempt to call the emergency number listed above regarding your pet's condition.

If you leave personal items (such as collars, leashes, towels, bedding item, and toys) while your pet is under our care, every effort will be made to ensure that your pet's belongings are returned to you. However, there is still a risk that these personal belongings could be misplaced and lost. Though we will strive for this not to happen, we do not take responsibility for lost items.
