Assessment of Professional Education Tuition Mississippi State University College of Veterinary Medicine

Prior to the final acceptance for admission, each successful applicant must enter a contract with the MSU-CVM in which the applicant agrees and obligates himself/herself to pay the tuition, fees and expenses applicable to the applicant's resident or non-resident status, as determined by the MSU-CVM, that exists on the date the applicant matriculates (the date the applicant accepts admission); further, the applicant must agree and obligate himself/herself in the contract to continue to pay the tuition, fees and expenses during the applicant's entire MSU-CVM DVM educational experience that are applicable to that same initial status determination, thereby waiving any right to petition for a change in residency status for the purpose of calculating tuition.

An admitted applicant's status will not change for his or her entire MSU-CVM veterinary medical educational period.
